The Martin Group, LLC (TMG) is a New Jersey based general contracting, construction management and client representation firm. TMG was established by two industry professionals who had previously worked in leadership positions for some of the most prominent construction organizations in the New York metropolitan area.

The firm's owners, Jerry Martin and Patrick Hynes, have over 50 years combined construction management experience, having completed a wide array of projects ranging from single family luxury residential dwellings to mission critical telecommunication facilities.
